

This Bible reading schedule is intended to help you spend time hearing from God, and listening for what the Holy Spirit is prompting you to do as a result of what you hear.

This plan is organized to allow you to read through the entire New Testament one time each year by spending the amount of time it would normally take to sit and have a leisurely cup of coffee: an average of 5-6 minutes daily.

The number in the first column represents the ISO week in the calendar year you should read the selected passage. ISO is an international standard week that begins on Monday and ends on Sunday. For example, during the 4th ISO week, you should read Acts 1-6 at least once. After completing the reading, simply check the box. You might be interested to know that starting with the 33rd week, the order of the books is the approximate order they were believed to have been written, although different scholars order them slightly differently.

On the weekend, it is suggested that you complete a brief journal entry for that week which includes 4 elements using the acronym VIA-10. Select VERSES that are significant to you from the reading that week. Write out an INSIGHT you discovered from the reading. Decide on a personal APPLICATION that you need to make based on this weeks reading. The VIA may be related to one another, or may be completely separate from one another. Finally, the most important and unique aspect of this devotional plan is to review the last 10 VIA journal entries each weekend. Repetition is the key element for integrating the VIA into your life.

We invite you to share in reading through this plan with others, or, choose a different plan that works better for you. The important thing is that you are spending time hearing from God and letting the Holy Spirit make personal application for you and your life.
